Primary Logo

The chosen creative direction balances confidence with approachability. It celebrates the ritual of daily movement, not extreme performance, creating a calm, grounded, and human visual language.

The aesthetic blends retro athletic references with subtle futuristic touches — relaxed silhouettes, minimal graphics, and modern materials. Branding is minimal and refined, letting the product and experience take the stage.

At its core, the brand is community-driven: everyday people moving together, outdoors, in effortless style. It's an invitation to move because it feels good.

The logo is built from simple and clean lines, creating a form that feels both light and intentional. The rounded shapes reflect ease, flow, and natural movement, while the minimal structure keeps it modern and timeless.

This simplicity allows the mark to feel effortless and balanced and aligns with the brand's focus on everyday motion, clarity, and consistency.

The background of the image is a blurred photograph of several people running on a paved surface. The motion blur is horizontal, suggesting a fast-paced activity. The colors are muted, with shades of blue, grey, and brown visible on the runners' clothing and the ground.

Colour Palette

The visual world draws from nature and everyday outdoor moments rather than high-performance sport.

Colours are inspired by natural elements: washed sky blues, eucalyptus greens, clay reds, dusty browns, soft sand tones, and deep ocean shades.

These earthy colours create a palette that feels grounded, breathable, and timeless, reflecting the brand’s philosophy of balance and consistency.

Colour Usage Notes

- Pair bold accents with generous neutral space using Linen or Link Water.
- Use Black Pearl for typography to ensure readability and contrast.

Typeface

Albert Sans was selected as the primary typeface for NUOR due to its clean geometric forms, modern character, and excellent readability across both digital and print applications.

Its contemporary sans-serif design feels minimal yet approachable, reflecting the brand's balance of functionality, movement, and understated style.

The typeface family offers a wide range of weights and styles, allowing for a flexible and cohesive typographic system. Regular is used for body copy and longer text. Medium and Bold help create clear hierarchy in headings and key messages. Italic can be used sparingly for emphasis, product details, or editorial accents.

This versatility ensures consistency while giving the brand enough expression across different touchpoints.

Icons

The custom icon set was created in a minimal linear style inspired by instructional diagrams and technical schematics. This approach reinforces NUOR's functional and thoughtful design philosophy, communicating information in a clear, simple, and visually consistent way.

The icons can be used across product labels, packaging, and the website to highlight key details such as materials, garment features, care instructions, and the production process.

Their clean and understated appearance complements the overall visual identity while helping customers better understand the story behind each product.

Photography Style

NUOR's imagery embraces an honest and tactile aesthetic that captures movement as it naturally unfolds. Rather than relying on glossy, highly retouched visuals, the brand favours lo-fi photography with natural lighting, visible grain, soft imperfections, and occasional motion blur.

This approach creates a sense of spontaneity and authenticity, reflecting the energy of real people in motion. Photographs should feel candid and observational, documenting moments of activity, rest, and connection with the environment.

Whether shot outdoors or in everyday settings, the imagery highlights texture, atmosphere, and emotion, reinforcing NUOR's grounded and understated identity. The result is a visual language that feels relatable, effortless, and true to the experience of movement in everyday life.

Logo Usage Rules

The NUOR logo is designed to be simple, versatile, and instantly recognisable across all brand touchpoints.

A minimum clear space equal to half the width of the letter “U” should be maintained on all sides of the logo. This ensures the mark remains legible and visually distinct in every application.

To maintain consistency, the logo should always be used in its approved formats and colours.

The full-colour version should be used whenever possible, and switched to the dark or light versions when greater contrast is required.

Following these guidelines helps preserve the integrity of the brand and ensures a cohesive visual identity across print, digital, packaging, and apparel applications.

Colour & Type in Use

The NUOR visual system combines a grounded, nature-inspired colour palette with a clean typographic structure to create clarity and consistency across all applications.

Colours should be used intentionally to support mood and hierarchy rather than decoration, with neutral tones providing space and balance, and accent colours used sparingly to highlight key moments.

Typography, led by Albert Sans, works in harmony with the colour system to reinforce readability and tone of voice.

Different weights and styles are used to create hierarchy, emphasis, and rhythm, ensuring communication feels structured yet flexible across print and digital formats.

Brand Expression

NUOR's brand expression is rooted in authenticity, movement, and everyday realism. Across all touchpoints, the visual language should feel natural, unforced, and observational, avoiding overly polished or artificial compositions.

This is achieved through lo-fi imagery, tactile textures, and a focus on candid moments that reflect real activity and human presence.

Whether applied in campaigns, social content, or product storytelling, the brand expression should consistently communicate ease, honesty, and connection to the environment—allowing imperfection, motion blur, and spontaneity to become part of the identity.
